Maritime Disasters

Passenger Ships in Peril - Pre-1950

by Arran Kristian

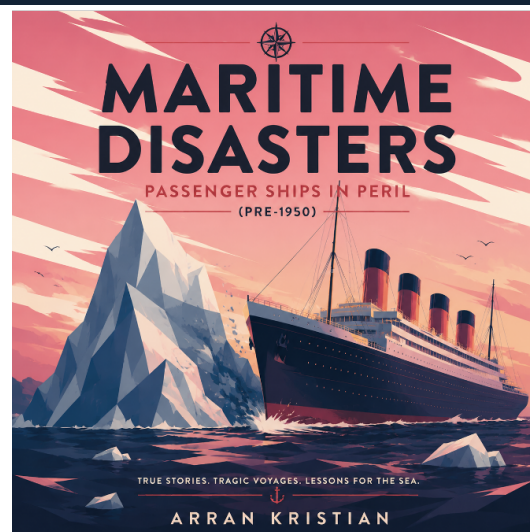

A richly illustrated exploration of passenger ships lost or imperilled before 1950. Maritime Disasters combines carefully researched narrative with archive photography, original artists' impressions, vessel profiles, maps and timelines. The result is an accessible visual history that places each ship, voyage and loss in its wider human and maritime context. Designed for browsing as well as sustained reading, this premium full-colour volume is the opening title in the Maritime Disasters series.

Why it will sell

- Premium full-colour illustrated history
- Archive photography and original artists' impressions
- Vessel profiles, route maps and concise timelines
- Accessible to general readers; detailed enough for enthusiasts
- First volume in the Maritime Disasters series
